NURSING THE IMAGE

July - September, 2016

'NURSING THE IMAGE' is a photographic project that has two starting points: mainstream representations of nursing and recent research looking at themes of stress and burnout in nursing.

Our aim is to work with existing material in the archives and the media to create 'counter-images' which reflect the richness and ambiguity of giving and receiving care.

'Nursing the Image' is a collaboration between the Department of Mental Health Nursing at King's College London and the Bethlem Gallery, supported by the Cultural Institute at King's.
